THE TIMES is a member of the Associated Press—the greatest news-collecting association in the world—and receives over special wire the full telegraphic news service of the Associated Press—the same news from all over the United States and the world that is simultaneously received by the great dailies of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

THE recent row in the Italian chambers of deputies, in which socialists took a prominent part, would seem to show that liberal ideas of a fictitious character, are making rapid progress in the land of the ancient Romans. The Italian chamber is about as unmanageable as a double-barreled Kansas legislature.

ANOTHER indication of returning prosperity is the increase of foreign immigration to the United States. During the great business depression settlers here from abroad were slow to advise their friends to come to this country. Now, however, the tide has again turned in this direction. In March last the arrivals numbered 390 more than in March 1894; in April there were 1,776 more than in the same month last year, while for May 1895 the gain reached the enormous total of 11,816.

THERE are many people and some editors who howl for a gold standard, not because it is right or wrong; not because they know what they are talking about, but because they think gold will win on account of having the political machinery and all the wealth of the country at its back. To be an "I told you so" with the privilege of passing the hat for a federal job is the aim and object of too many editors for the good of this country.

A STATEMENT prepared at the Treasury Department shows the aggregate receipts from internal revenue sources during the eleven months of the fiscal year ended May 30, 1895, to have been $131,420,636, a gain of about $39,400 over the same period last year. The receipts from the several sources of revenue are given as follows: Spirits, $74,232,200; same period last year, $75,670,447; tobacco, $27,215,085; same period last year, $26,081,581; fermented liquors, $28,046,059; same period last year, $27,821,854; oleomargarine, $1,323,361; same period last year, $1,619,706.

A BROOKLYN scientist says that railroads and telegraphs across the continent have done away with the old fashioned earthquakes on the Pacific coast, and by the concentration of electricity in New Mexico and Arizona have developed the deadly and destructive cyclone in its stead. This may or may not be true, but it is claimed as a fact that earthquakes have not been so frequent or severe in California and other places west of the Rockies since the three transcontinental railroads have been completed with their connecting lines and telegraphic attachments. The American earthquake as a terror producer is hard to beat; but as a devastator of irrepressible force the cyclone in its merciless sweep is now an object of much greater dread to those who have seen and felt the effects of its ravages.

MR. JAMES J. HILL, president of the Great Northern railway, has originated a scheme for teaching Chinamen to eat wheat bread and sell their rice for exportation. By this plan, he claims a great market would be opened for American wheat, and that the corporation of which he is president would be benefited proportionately. The plan will work very well after the Celestials have been brought to a full knowledge of the blessings afforded by such a diet. This, however, would require a long and patient campaign of education, and as recent advices show that foreigners, especially of the missionary class, are not exactly safe in China, it must be admitted that there are many difficulties and dangers in the way of the successful prosecution of President Hill's plan. On the whole, just now, the scheme looks very much like "belling the cat," so vividly presented in Boops Fables.

DR. CHAUNCEY DEWEY, of New York, made an excellent address at the Vanderbilt University commencement last Tuesday night. He said, among other good things in the course of his remarks, that the soldiers of the North and South shot sectionalism to pieces with cannon and rifles during the civil war in the mutual respect gained for each others' courage. He also paid a high tribute to the people of this section, in which he said could be found the great opportunities of the country, and the only original stock which fought at King's Mountain and Yorktown. The people here, he said, had the advantage of virgin soil and uninhabited regions in which to build their commonwealths and found their cities, and their intelligent patriotism in the last quarter of a century had overcome difficulties which seemed insurmountable.

STRIKES IN FRANCE.

The French law on strike arbitrations has been in operation for two years, and Consul Whitley, at Elonne, has sent to the State Department at Washington a report of its workings for the year 1894. The law contemplates the voluntary submission by the parties interested of the questions at issue between them, first to a committee of conciliation, consisting of delegates chosen by the respective parties, and secondly, in case of a failure to agree on the part of such committee to a council of arbitration.

The proceedings may be initiated by either party, or, in case of a strike, upon the invitation of the justice of the peace of the district, but in all cases the agreement of both parties to submit the question is essential. From the consul's report it appears that while there has been a decrease in the number of strikes in 1894, as compared with 1893, the proportion of cases coming under the arbitration act was considerably in excess of those in the last mentioned year. It must be inferred from this that the law is working satisfactorily.

THE REFORM CLUB COMMITTEE.

One of the most important features of the Reform Club committee's work has been the wholesale distribution of popular sound-money documents. Twelve numbers of the "Sound-Money" series have been issued since December last, with a total circulation of 833,000 copies and a regular subscription list of 15,000. Mr. Horace White's clever answer to "Coin," called "Coin's Financial Fool," is number eleven of the series, and of it over 200,000 copies have already been distributed.

The committee have made arrangements for "broadside supplements" on sound money, which are supplied to over two hundred local papers, mainly in the South and the West. Every fortnight over 400,000 full-page supplements are sent out, each one to go into some rural home, where the weekly paper is read from beginning to end.

Arrangements have been made by which plate-matter treating of the currency question can be sent to papers having a circulation similar to those taking the supplements. About November next a Currency Red-Book will be published, containing a full collection of statistics, brought down to date, upon all phases of the currency question.

The New York Reform Club is by no means single-handed in its work. Active co-operation is being furnished by organizations in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Buffalo and Grand Rapids, and sound currency clubs are being rapidly formed in various other quarters. The expense of this work is enormous. "The circulation of documents," the committee says, "which was a matter of thousands last autumn, of tens of thousands in the winter, and of hundreds of thousands in the early part of the spring, has already become one of millions." The office room of the committee is at 52 William street, New York.—Baltimore News.

And who is footing the enormous expense of carrying on this business? The bankers and money lenders of New York and London are footing the bills. And why are they footing the bills? Because the single standard has doubled the purchasing power of their money (gold). The war is on. It is a battle between the few rich and the many poor. If the rich win this will be a country of barons and serfs, a government of the rich, by the rich and for the rich.

He Can't Tell the Truth.

As our readers ought to know by this time, the campaign in favor of the single gold standard—the monarchical measure of values—is based wholly on fraud, falsehood and deception. No matter how high the character of the man who places himself behind it, he is driven by all the facts and circumstances to falsification and deception. He cannot help himself. He cannot defend the single gold standard and stick to the truth.—Atlanta Constitution.

MRS. BROPHY'S PUPILS.

They Gave a Fine Recital Last Night to an Appreciative Audience.

The pupils of Mrs. Nellie Brophy gave a very successful entertainment at the residence of her father, Mr. Geo. P. Carr, last night, and charmed quite a large number of friends who had gathered to hear their performance. Mrs. Brophy is an excellent teacher, uniting with a thorough knowledge of music, both vocal and instrumental, the rare faculty of successfully imparting that knowledge to her pupils.

The programme last night was well selected and equally well rendered. It comprised selections from the works of such sterling masters as Donizetti, Schubert, Heller, Abt, Wagner, Schumann, Bohm, a Becket, Cramer and Gobbarts, and the pupils ranged all the way from 7 to 17 years of age, all of whom gave evidence of the good training they had received by the facility and intelligence which marked their performance.

While all did well and reflected great credit on their excellent teacher space will not permit individual mention of all the participants; but especial praise must be accorded Miss Maggie Loughery for her artistic rendition of the "Overture to Wagner's Kiehl," wherein she displayed rare technique and execution.

The rest of the performers were the Misses R. Carr, Alice McDermott, Frances Brophy, Alice Franklin, Marie Loughery, Annie Garry, Clara Cruciger, Nannie Barksdale, M. McCoy, D. Webb, E. Schloss, Annie McLoughlin, Mary Carr, Clara Barnhart, Mamie Malone, S. Schloss, Quinn and Master Carl Holtz.

THE POLLARD MURDERERS.

Three of Them Arrive in Petersburg Accompanied by Guards.

PETERSBURG, Va., June 20.—Deputy Sheriff E. H. Bacon, of Lunenburg county, accompanied by three guards, arrived here this evening, from Lunenburg Courthouse, with Solomon Marable, Mary Abernathy and Poky Barnes, the negroes charged with the murder of Mrs. Lucy J. Pollard in Lunenburg county on the 14th instant. Mary Barnes, another negro woman, who is charged with being implicated in the murder, was left in the county. The three prisoners were committed to the jail of this city for safe keeping, and were brought here because of threats to lynch them.

Deputy Sheriff Bacon told the Associated Press reporter that he left Lunenburg courthouse with the prisoners Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and that he reached Blackstone about 7:30 o'clock that night. The feeling is so bitter against the prisoners that Sheriff Bacon stated that while in Blackstone he was advised by several gentlemen to get away from there as soon as possible with the prisoners. The trip was made across country in a wagon, and the party arrived here about 7 o'clock this evening.

Marable, when warned by the sheriff that he was not compelled to make a statement, contented himself with saying: "I am not guilty of the crime with which I am charged. The women—Mary Abernathy, Poky Barnes and Mary Barnes—all made a bargain to kill Mrs. Pollard. Mary Barnes' daughter told me so."

Poky Barnes denies that she knows anything of the murder. Mary Abernathy told quite a story. She said that she lived about a mile from the Pollard farm, and that between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the 14th instant, she heard Mr. Pollard's farm bell ringing so vigorously that she went over to see what was the matter. When she arrived there, she was told by Mr. Pollard that he was ringing for his wife, who soon made her appearance. Mary Abernathy then says that she chatted with the two for some minutes and returned home.

She had hardly reached home when the Pollard bell rang again, long and loud, and Mr. Pollard was heard hallooing. The Abernathy woman's husband at once set out for the Pollard farm and was later followed by Mary, who says that she met her husband returning from the Pollards', and was told by him that Mrs. Pollard had been killed. She did not turn back, but went on to the Pollard farm and spent the night there. She asserts her innocence and claims to know nothing of the murder or of the murderer.

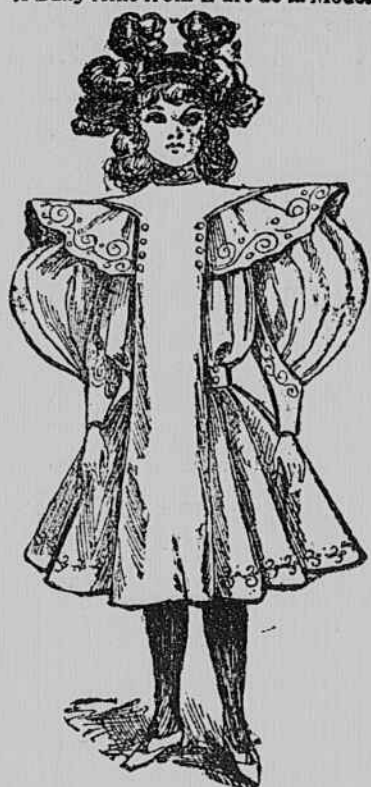

A Keyville dispatch says: William Solomon Marable and the four women prisoners, charged with the murder of Mrs. Pollard, after they were secretly taken from the house where the murder was committed, near Fort Mitchell, Va., by the guard, under the direction of the commonwealth's attorney, Tuesday night, were carried to Lunenburg jail. Guards and prisoners made the entire trip on foot, a distance of sixteen miles.

Thoroughfares were avoided and the woods and by-paths were used by the posse the whole trip with the exception of crossing a bridge over Mohrlin river. It is plain that the commonwealth showed ability and tact in only bringing out enough gulls in the trial to commit them to jail, leaving out the bloody clothes of Marable. There is great determination manifested on both sides and the issue is uncertain.

A Determined Woman.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—A special to the Post from Amory, Miss., says: At Greenwood Springs, a summer resort fifteen miles from here, Bruce Flanagan, proprietor of the hotel, called at the residence of Frank Dean. Finding Mrs. Dean alone, he made an improper proposition to her, so she claims. She wrenched a pistol from his hand and blew out his brains. She then secured her husband's shotgun, and, leveling the muzzle at the dead man's breast, fired both barrels. Mrs. Dean has not been arrested and probably will not be.

On Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla—Ague, Malaria, Neuralgia, Sick Headaches.

Miss Hattie Stuart

I have found such benefit in Hood's Sarsaparilla during the summer that I intend never to be without it. I could scarcely go about, for ague and malaria, when I got a bottle. Every day after that I found myself improving. I took three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I feel as fresh and strong as any woman would wish to be. Instead of housework being a burden it is now a pleasure. I used to have
